Food Production Department

It is one of the largest areas of food and beverage department comprising of various kitchen and their sections. The number of kitchen, manpower and work efficiency depends upon the size and type of the hotel, and the type of meal and service to be catered, from the commercial viewpoint, it contributed major revenue in any catering business. Kitchen is well defined area in which food is prepared and cooked for customer service. The varieties of meat are prepared and cooked by the skilled and semi skilled culinary crafts and the key person, and food is served in specific area of the catering establishment. Main kitchen is probably located at the central part of hotel where overall supervision of food receiving, storing, preparing, cooking, serving and creating area are properly designed and managed. Satellite kitchen is constructed to cater to a particular outlet where the main kitchen can not cater due to its location disadvantage. This type of kitchen is known by the type of food. It prepares such as Italian kitchen, Indian kitchen, Chinese kitchen etc. Fast food kitchen is influenced by American catering technology. Fast food was developed from original 'fish and chip' concept at that time. It is specially located at the public area of the hotel or out of hotel where other food is taken a way or consumed at the fast food serving area, display kitchen. Food is prepared and cooked in full open view of customers. Which appeals to the eyes palate and dining experience on the customers. At the same time the size and amount of food items adds to the pleasure of eating eg. grill room. This kitchen also seeks the support of the main kitchen for various items.

Food and Beverage Service Department

The food and beverage service department is an integral part in any hotel which is responsible for the systematic and the actual service of food and beverage to the general public or customers as per the order in any F & B outlet. This department plays a vital role in the delivering the accurate service of food and beverage by placing the orders from the hot or cold plates of kitchen to the customers table in the proper and the hospitality manner.

This department in any hotel plays a vital role in the profitable process of the hotel business. Among the total revenue collected in the hotel, about 40% contribution is directly accredited to F & B Service department. This department is specialized by its output of the products that satisfaction customer demand for food and beverage. For the proper control and the effective management of the food staff and their duties, this department is divided into different units or sections which are also called as outlets. Each outlet is specialized for the special functions. For the systematic and a good service process of any F & B outlet, presentation, time keeping, order taking and the suggestive selling are the key element of a service to be maintained by service staffs.

The staffing pattern of F & B department is basically divided into two parts. They involve the service staffs and the kitchen staffs. In the modern concept of catering, this department generally focuses on the product knowledge, understanding, customer's relative and expectations rather than the traditional style of service. The guest satisfaction is only ensured when the service
